Pertinent Paragraphs

"United we stand, divided we fall" may well be adopted as a slogan by the members of the struggling Prune and Apricot Growers association—and also by the multitude of orchardists who are teetering on the fence, for if the organization fails to secure the requisite number of "signers," thereby sounding the death knell of the association, there is bound to be a fall with all growers coming in for a share of the catastrophe. Under the old regime there was much merited criticism of the association, but under the new system, patterned after the co-operative associations of the citrus fruit growers and the walnut growers, an entirely different story will unfold. Control is in the hands of the members—and they are obliged to sign up for only one year. If affairs are conducted other than to their satisfaction they will have only themselves to blame. Growers who have stuck by the association since the days of its infancy admit that in the old organization many situations arose with which the members were powerless to cope—but they are the very men and women who are forming the nucleus of the new association. Rather than condemn all co-operative marketing groups because they have encountered difficulties, they are resolved to take hold in the new association and realize some dividends on the experience gained from mistakes made in the past. On the other hand we must contend with those who refuse to enter the association because the price paid by the individual packer is "high enough." If this group would pause for a moment and give thought to the situation most of them are of sufficient astuteness to see why the independent packers' prices are "high enough." Then there are some few who are possibly too stupid to realize that the prices paid association members is the only thing in the world that forces independent packers to pay the prices which are "high enough." Here we have the same situation as Organized Labor versus the Open Shop. Workers in open shops refuse to become members of unions on the ground that they are receiving nearly as great a wage as are those men who belong to unions, with none of the attending work of further organization and education—and in their innocence they believe that their living wages are due to the "big hearts" of their employers (independent packers) when in reality the wages are held up by the scale demanded by organized labor (growers' associations). Think well before you, by refusing to sign up in the new Prune and Apricot Growers association before April 6, become an aide in the conspiracy to cut your own throat.

Bootleggers, often faced with the necessity of getting rid of their wares in a hurry, have developed a new and better brand of hooch which, in a given time, will eat through its container and so become absent evidence. CRASH ON WINCHESTER ROAD FINE BALLYHOO FOR INSURANCE MAN

Wednesday morning about 8:30 o'clock a Chevrolet sedan, owned by S. M. Boyer, 330 University avenue, Los Gatos, and driven by his son, R. M. Boyer, bit the dust on Winchester road near Campbell when the driver of a car ahead made a left turn without signaling. Young Boyer, swinging out of the way, encountered loose gravel, his car turning a somersault, landing right side up.

The youth was not injured, but the car was badly damaged. Ralph Hyde, local insurance man, who happened along soon after the crash, sold to automobile policies to bystanders, using the wrecked car as an object lesson.

METHODIST YOUNG WOMEN FORM A NEW SERVICE CLUB

The younger women of the Methodist congregation have organized a group for social and welfare purposes, for which they have chosen the name, "Young Women's Service" club.

At a recent meeting officers were elected: Miss Mary Rodde, president; Mrs. G. E. Farley, first vice president; Mrs. William Lloyd, second vice president; Mrs. George Medlock, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Post, treasurer.

The second Thursday of each month has been chosen as the date of meeting, with an occasional evening session. The next meeting will be one of these, Saturday evening, April 13, at the home of Mrs. Bernice Saveker in San Jose.

The club was organized for service work in the church and community, for the younger women of that organization and others not connected with any denomination who would enjoy the social contact and opportunity of service.

sume the five gallon tin in which it was stored. Ought to make a good tonic for weak stomachs.

That's all.

KIWANIS NOTES

The inter-club visitation was an enjoyable affair Tuesday when the Campbell Kiwanians went en masse to Palto Alto to cultivate a more intimate friendship with that group of workers. The Campbell men put on the program, our own "Prexy" Ed Wiesendanger officiating. Past President T. A. Cutting gave a very good report of local club activities and complimented the hosts on their wonderful accomplishments, that of having elected one of their members as president of the United States and of placing one of its members in the cabinet.

A male quartet, Stephen Merrill and H. C. Smith, tenors, H. W. Morton and Dr. W. I. Merrill basses, sang two entertaining numbers.

Roy Page, Campbell's cornet artist, gave two solos that were much enjoyed. Dr. Merrill accompanied at the piano.

The Rev. J. H. Bennett of the Campbell club gave a very interesting and entertaining talk on "America as seen through his English eyes." He thoroughly appreciates the position and ideals of these Americans and is fast becoming a real one himself, by absorption and education.

He stated that the United States now holds the balance of power in the world, which carries with it a great responsibility as to its own conduct. This country is in a position to also become the great moral leader of the world and this leadership is expected by many of the other nations. There is a great deal to be done along this line by the many service clubs of the country. Education must also play a very important part in the advancement of this and every other country. A mutual understanding is necessary to a proper appreciation of others' ideals and manners.

BURT-ADAMS WED AT HOME OF J. PARDEE THURSDAY, MARCH 21

The pretty country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pardee was the scene last Thursday evening of a happy wedding, when Floyd Adams of San Jose and Lucile Burt of San Francisco were married by their host.

The bride wore a lovely ensemble of yellow and white and carried a bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley. Her attendant, Miss Jeanette Van Druten of Los Gatos, wore an ensemble of rose color.

Paul Walker of San Jose acted as groomsmen.

Preceding the ceremony which was performed at 8:30 o'clock, a dainty wedding dinner was served to the guests, 22 relatives and friends.

Mr. Adams is connected with the San Jose News and both he and his bride are friends of long standing with the Pardee family.

SMITHS DELVE INTO SECRETS OF LEGISLATION AT THE CAPITOL

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Smith spent part of last week at Sacramento among the lawmakers. Mr. Smith was on a vacation from the postoffice and as the legislative session offered some excitement in lieu of the Mexican bull fights he didn't get to see, due to the cancellation of the Press association trip to Mexico, the opportunity was taken.

The courtesy of the floor was granted them on request of Senator Sanborn Young who, by the way, is quite a prominent figure in the chamber. "Let it be said, with no disrespect to other members of the legislature, that Santa Clara county men are among the hardest and most conscientious workers," remarked Mr. Smith.

"Our representatives were early on the job and had some very worthwhile duties to perform and were doing them far into the night," Mr. Smith said. "Much of the real legislation is worked out in committees where the lobbyists pro and con make their fights," he continued.

Senator Young was busy with his narcotic bill and Assemblyman Wright, chairman of the ways and means committee, was handling the state budget and his old age pension bill. Absolute confidence in these men and their measures is held by their colleagues, according to Mr. Smith.

ARDEN STATION IS CARED FOR BY THE IMPROVEMENT CLUB

The grounds of the pretty little station of Arden have been recently put in order, shrubs pruned, etc., by the volunteer work of some of the public-spirited citizens who keep the place under their supervision. The community spirit displayed by this group of neighbors on Johnson avenue in paying for the upkeep of the station and giving it their personal care is commendable.

The Johnson Avenue Improvement club is apparently held to its allegiance by an invisible bond, and is quietly watchful of any need of its action for the good of the street and neighborhood.

San Jose, March 29—Under new management plans the California Prune and Apricot Growers association will be at all times under the direct control of growers in every phase of its operation, it was explained here today by C. D. Cavallaro, president of the new organization. In the wind-up of the association's drive for a required minimum membership, he stated that from all sections of the state have come queries as to just what control would be exercised by the individual grower.

The new association patterned its operations after the most successful co-operative association and is operating on a decentralized group control, he announced. "The controlling factor in the new organization will be individual growers themselves," Cavallaro stated. "These are banded together in local member grower groups, organized by district, and share in the election of a director of the association's central board of directors. The locals are to be complete, self-governing, non-profit co-operative associations. The growers who become members agree to market their fruit through the locals under the term of a uniform marketing agreement. Each local will have its local board of directors who will choose for each local its director to serve annually with the central organization of the California Prune and Apricot Growers association.

"Thus the control rests entirely with the member groups and through their membership, the growers direct. Not only do the growers have their own representation, but the management is entirely their selection and with the management rests every function of the association organization.

Plan Most Successful
"It has been demonstrated many times that this plan is the most successful of co-operative movements, and this is the plan under which the association will operate.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT EXCEEDS RECEIPTS OF PLAY'S FIRST SHOW

Saturday night the young people of the Congregational church presented their comedy hit, "Mr. Bob," to a full house—exceeding by a comfortable margin the audience which witnessed the initial showing of the production.

Mrs. F. A. Cutting directed the young players and a great deal of credit for the success of the venture is due to her untiring efforts. It is reported the play will be given at San Carlos some time soon.

MORTON PRESIDES AT SCHOOL MASS MEET WEDNESDAY EVENING

A representative group of residents of the Campbell union school district gathered at the grammar school auditorium Wednesday night for the purpose of determining upon some system whereby outlying districts may secure what they believe to be more adequate representation on the board.

H. W. Morton presided at the meeting.

WELL, JOHN D. WON.
NOW, THEREFORE, I.
THE QUICK HOOVER MIND.
GOODBYE, TOM TAGGART.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., wins his fight in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and Colonel Stewart is defeated.

There have been few more bitter fights in the history of high finance.

On Tuesday John H. Perry, learned editor of Reading, Pennsylvania, Jacksonville, Florida, and other places, predicting the Indiana result, said:

"It is hard to fight dollars. In fact, you can't do it."

He added as an afterthought "It is absolutely impossible to fight dollars when they happen to be right."

Colonel Coblenz, of San Francisco and New York, remarked: "To the victor belong the oils."

Colonel Stewart, bidding farewell to Standard Oil of Indiana, and probably preparing to run some other big oil company had the satisfaction of reporting financial success for 1928.

In the last year Standard Oil of Indiana has earned more than eighty-three million dollars profit, or 1676 per cent on its capital. Earnings of the company increased more than fifty millions, as compared with 1927.

President Hoover, who summons the extra session of Congress to meet on April 15, is not an emotional man. But he must have been moved on writing the words, "Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare," etc.

After you have done farm chores as a small boy there must be considerable satisfaction in writing, "Now, therefore, I, President."

On April 15 farmers will have their day and Congress will tell them, if it can, how to put a disorganized industry on a substantial, paying basis.

No manufacturer could make his plant pay if he had to close down all winter. The farmer must do that, and it is part of the problem.

President Hoover has a quality more important to executives than any, except sound judgment. HE MAKES UP HIS MIND QUICKLY. No "wait a day or two."

When told of the Mexican revolution, the President did not wait a week. In five minutes he had told his Cabinet "our business interest and duty demand support of the existing Mexican Government."

He shipped guns and ammunition from army stores to President Portes Gil, stopped shipments of ammunition, guns and airplanes to the revolutionists, and arranged for shipments of fighting plants to Mexico's Government.

This does not imply complete approval of all that the Mexican Government has done, or disapproval of the revolutionary cause. It means that the President means to uphold stability of government.

Tom Taggart of Indiana is dead. He had an interesting life while it lasted, and it lasted seventy-two years. He was a political boss for a generation, controlling his State. He defeated Champ Clark and nominated Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

Now that he is in heaven, and presumably knows everything, Mr. Taggart knows just how useful he was when his influence gave Woodrow Wilson the presidency.

P. B. Payne left Tuesday for Stockton where he will do some grafting on the Anderson - Barngrover company's ranch. He expects to be gone several weeks.

"Inside Talk"

The tire trade has its "inside talk" the same as any other. Just now that talk is all of Goodyear—and the terrific pace Goodyear is setting for the field.

The reason that Goodyear is stepping out ahead of everybody else in the tire business comes right down to the product.

Right now, and for years past, Goodyear prices, values and quality have had it over all the other tire-makers like a tent.

This is no secret in the trade—it's common knowledge.

GRANGE NOTES

The Keesling orchestra entertained the Grange Tuesday evening with many selections of beautiful music. It was especially interesting to see how well the young children handled the various instruments, and a large audience was evidently well pleased.

The following new members were obligated in the first and second degrees: George Barnes, Mrs. Julia Barnes, Ray F. Lundy, Eva A. Lundy, Millard F. Hughes, Helen E. Hughes and Freeman Howes.

Harry Barnes reported a bill before the legislature allowing hunters and others greater freedom and intended to break down the rights of rural property owners. On motion the bill was opposed by the Grange. Also another bill designed to weaken the alien land laws was opposed. Mrs. W. I. Merrill read a synopsis of the old age pension bill now before the legislature, which was followed by a discussion.

A bill introduced by the state department of commerce was opposed—assembly bill no. 43 supporting action of farm bureau was carried.

A. E. Rae, speaking on the Prune and Apricot association, said only 60,000 tons had been signed up, and unless 100,000 tons could be signed up before April 6 the whole co-operative movement would be lost and prunes would go back to three cents per pound and land values would decrease. Several others urged the importance of saving the association. Stanley Smith moved the endorsement of the new association; carried.

George Husted spoke against the prominence of bill boards on the highways, especially those advertising cigarettes, and suggested some move should be made to do away with them.

SILVER WEDDING, PARTY OCCASION SATURDAY EVE

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Buck was fittingly celebrated last Saturday evening at their home in Campbell when a group of old friends and schoolmates walked in upon them unannounced. They were laden with a covered dish dinner and decorations appropriate to the occasion. Small tables were soon arranged with orchid color motifs, silver-bells and spring flowers.

The feast of chicken-pie with all accessories, including prune ice cream and the wedding cake was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck were married in Los Angeles March 23, 1904, coming to the Santa Clara valley on their wedding trip and they have resided in and around Campbell ever since.

The old friends that gathered to help Mr. and Mrs. Buck and daughter Helen to celebrate this memorable occasion were Mr. and Mrs. W. E.

RELATIVES, FRIENDS, AT SHAW HOME MONDAY EVENING

A more than usually successful surprise party greeted Mrs. May Beardsley Monday evening last, the occasion being her birthday. Relatives from San Jose and vicinity to the number of 15 gathered at the Shaw home on Johnson avenue at 6 o'clock, bringing with them a bounteous birthday dinner, including a birthday cake.

Congratulations were showered upon the honored hostess of the day, and dinner was merrily served by the willow hands of guests before Mrs. Beardsley had recovered from her bewilderment at the invasion.

Much to the regret of every one present was the forced absence of Mr. and Mrs. Buck's son, Lucius, who was away at U. C.

The evening was spent at Dutch whist, high honor going to Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Bartholomew and low to E. Foote.
